CO-CHAIR'S REPORT 2023

Jonathan Duddles and Sally Chandler

Report written by Jonathan Duddles

It is always a joy to look back over the past year and reflect on the achievements of Tasmanian Youth Orchestras. This year Sally Chandler and I have shared the Chair role for TYO, and both of us are equally excited to present to you the Year in Review for 2023.

For me personally, this is my last report after 12 years as Chair of TYO. It has been an incredible journey, and I am grateful for the opportunity to support the transition of TYO from a small Hobart based volunteer run organisation to a statewide professional arts and training organisation inspiring hundreds of young Tasmanians each year to learn and play classical music.

As you will see in this report, in 2023 TYO continued to grow our reach across Tasmania with more musicians joining our ensembles and strong audiences for our live and digital performances.

The artistic program and repertoire for 2023 was as exciting, rewarding and entertaining as it was hard work for the TYO musicians. Achieving the balance between high performance, joy and musical learning is often challenging and in 2023 we achieved that balance. Feedback from participants and families in our regular surveys confirmed this, as did the smiles and cheers from our growing audiences. Bravo to all our conductors, tutors and musicians!

There are too many moments to mention and there is more detail contained in the report. However, we must mention one of our favourite events – TYO in the Goods Shed – a community event where all of the ensembles and choirs come together for a day to share their love of music with our audiences. We were pleased to welcome Crescendo Music Hub to this event in 2023. TYO supported Crescendo musicians and families to travel down and stay in Hobart so they could be part of this very special event.

Thanks to the Tasmanian Symphony Orchestra, who provide significant support for our program and to our team. This support culminates in the annual TSO Big Rehearsal where our TYO musicians spend a day sitting alongside professional TSO musicians, conducted by a guest conductor. This is always a highlight of the year for all involved.

We thank the many people who supported our TYO Music is for Everyone fundraiser at Drysdale House in April 2023. This was a wonderful event, delivered in partnership with the training team and students at Tas TAFE. Thank you to Rick Brewster, lead guitarist from the Angels who shared inspirational stories from his classical music and Aussie rock background. We raised $58,988 from this event towards our Pathways program, which will commence in 2024 to support young aspiring musicians from disadvantaged backgrounds to access musical education.

We thank our CEO Kyna Hart and her team for their commitment and professionalism in managing TYO so successfully, supporting our young musicians in a safe and nurturing environment and delivering a wonderful TYO program.

2023 was our last year with TYO Chief Conductor Christopher Bearman OAM. Christopher joined TYO in 2019 and over five years drove a significant uplift in the standard of the Tasmanian Youth Orchestra. We thank Christopher greatly for sharing his knowledge and love for orchestral music with our musicians, families and audiences.

In 2023 we farewell long-serving Board member Ruth Sinclair. Since 2016, Ruth had brought outstanding skills, a passion for creativity and wise counsel to the TYO Board and we thank her enormously for her dedicated service to TYO. Following Ruth's departure, we welcomed Dominique Baker to the TYO Board. Dominique is a well-known musician and teacher from the North-west Coast of Tasmania who leads the Crescendo Choir, based in Devonport and who brings significant artistic expertise to her role with TYO. Welcome Dominique. As Co-Chairs, Sally and I thank our diverse, committed and skilled volunteer Board who provide strategic advice and counsel throughout the year. Thank you to Dominique, Jeremy, Ross, Mark and Lyndal.

Thank you to the wonderful funders, supporters, donors and volunteers listed in this report. Their support ensures we can deliver an accessible program to the Tasmanian community.

Sally and I look forward to seeing many of you at concerts over the next 12 months, with myself as part of the audience! We wish our players and our supportive community all the best for 2024 as TYO continues to reach its vision for Tasmania, as a vibrant, unique place for classical music, where young people thrive.

Entry was by gold coin donation and the casual feel of the event makes it highly accessible to families.

The day culminated in an en masse performance of 'Giant of the Forest' by Glyn Lehmann, celebrating Tasmania's iconic Centurion Tree. TYO Camerata Strings, TYO Sinfonietta, TYO Tasmanian Junior Chorale, TYO Tasmanian Youth Chorale, TYO Chamber Orchestra, Crescendo Choir and Crescendo Winds all participated, with the performance professionally filmed and subsequently released on social media.

The orchestra also performed Rossini, Mozart, Bizet and Gershwin. CEO'S REPORT 2023

Kyna Hart

In 2023, TYO was able to operate without significant pandemic impacts for the first time since early 2020 – and what a difference that made! Being able to make music in something like a 'normal' environment meant TYO had a busy and successful year, in which 216 young musicians and singers – 48% of whom were from public schools – participated in TYO programs, comprising 282 rehearsals and a total of 25 performances to live audiences of 7878 people, with seven digital performances adding further audience reach of 19900+.

I hope all the young musicians involved feel extraordinarily proud of themselves. I remain in awe of their dedication, commitment, good humour and creativity. They are an inspiring, fun, committed and fabulous mob and it has been a privilege to work with them throughout 2023.

Artistic excellence – on stage and off

TYO performances are, of course, a vital part of our programs and the part that most people see – but for me, it is in the development program where the 'together' magic of TYO really happens.

Week in and week out, TYO's exceptional artistic specialists work with our young instrumental musicians and singers in rehearsals and workshops, to help them develop their ensemble practice, connect with the musicians around them and collectively express their creativity. They make music together.

The extraordinary team of artistic specialists who delivered TYO programs in 2023, led by TYO Chief Conductor Christopher Bearman OAM, once again demonstrated the incredible depth, richness and quality of artistic practice in this state. Thank you to all of you for your collegial, engaged commitment to TYO and for sharing your expertise and artistry with Tasmania's young musicians. We are all the richer for it.

On the road again...

One welcome benefit of the post-pandemic environment was the ability to re-commence statewide music collaborations. Mid-year conversations with sector colleagues in the north and north-west of Tasmania reinforced that collaboration and extension are the preferred models for TYO's work around the state.

As such, in September, the Tasmanian Youth Orchestra delivered a full-house collaborative concert with the Burnie Stringalong Orchestra in Latrobe; and in late November we supported the crew from Crescendo Music in Devonport to travel down to Hobart and perform at TYO in the Goods Shed. These collaborations offer everyone the opportunity to develop connections as well as skills; and they make the most of the music resources available in the state by extending benefit without duplication.

Stellar support

TYO owes a debt of gratitude to the wonderful and diverse group of funders, donors and supporters who are acknowledged within this report. Simply put, without you, TYO programs would look very different: your support is invaluable and appreciated.

Particular acknowledgement is due to 2023 Ministers for the Arts Elise Archer MP and Madeleine Ogilvie MP, who have both been strong encouragers of TYO activities; and the engaged, insightful teams at the Department for Children, Education and Young People (DECYP) and Arts Tasmania, who bring their utmost to supporting educational and cultural life in this state.

Getting it done!

None of this would be possible without the TYO program team, who bring an incredible amount of skill and experience and always go above and beyond to support TYO programs. That sounds like a cliché – but for all that, it's true.

Naarah Barnes, Jasmine DeMarco, Owen Ferri, Alexander Rodrigues, Dave Rowell, Rob Rule, Wendy Page, Jamie Willson and Sida Zhao lifted, shifted, planned, scheduled, marketed, designed, organised, drove and generally just powered through 2023 with goodwill, good humour and a great deal of laughter.

Special mention to 'chorales champion,' volunteer Kaye Green. Kaye (always accompanied by chorales mascot Sergei) is the true north of TYO chorales, a beloved guide to our choristers and a kind, wise mentor to the team, myself included. Kaye, you are our champion in every sense of the word. Thank you for being in our corner.

Wise, engaged governance

Profound thanks and gratitude must go to the TYO Board: Co-Chairs Jonathan Duddles and Sally Chandler, Treasurer Lyndal Moore, Secretary Jeremy Young and Board Members Ross Copping, Ruth Sinclair, Mark Bain and Dominique Baker; who are ably supported in their work by members of TYO's Committees, listed in this report.

The TYO Board and Committees all give freely of their time and expertise; and their stewardship of TYO is wise, patient, engaged, informed and altogether exemplary. On behalf of TYO, I thank them for their support and their guidance; and I thank the Board for entrusting me with the leadership of such a wonderful organisation.

At the end of 2023, TYO farewelled Jonathan Duddles, who retired from the Board after 12 years at the helm as Chair. In that time Jonathan's leadership brought significant changes and growth, including building a diverse skill-based Board; and guiding TYO's transition from a volunteer-run model to a professional statewide arts organisation providing outstanding programs for hundreds of young Tasmanians each year.

Jonathan, thank you for your extraordinary commitment and dedication to TYO over so many years and your strong strategic vision for TYO's future. Your contributions have been invaluable; and we are all immensely thankful for the positive impact of your leadership. Bravo!

Evidencing value: our research partners

Tasmanian Youth Orchestras is privileged to partner with the University of Tasmania (UTAS) on research projects that increase the evidence base for our sector. In 2023, with pandemic travel restrictions eased, we were able to progress the ASEAN-funded Best Practice in Youth Orchestra Leadership research project, which also involves Singapore National Youth Orchestra (SNYO).

It was such a privilege to welcome Siu Yui Pang and Regina Lee from SNYO to Hobart in 2023 – especially during Festival of Voices, when there were lots of performances to experience. Thank you both for your willingness to share practice: it was wonderful to see you enjoying your time in Hobart!

Enormous thanks to research lead Dr William (Bill) Baker, Senior Lecturer, Deputy Associate Head Learning & Teaching and Program Director Postgraduate Coursework at the School of Education, University of Tasmania; and his research colleagues, Associate Professors Dr Anne-Marie Forbes and Lisa Ehrich. The team's expertise, passion for the 'why' of the arts and considerable patience have made our research collaborations a joy.

We look forward to releasing the results of this important project in 2024.

Sector Advocacy: ANYO

Each year, the managers of Australia's state youth orchestras meet up to workshop all things 'YO' and work on advocacy initiatives for the sector. Together, as the Australian Network of Youth Orchestras (ANYO), the member organisations have significant reach and impact within the Australian music sector...

- 3000+ weekly participants.
- 2000+ participants in holiday intensives.
- 62 music ensembles.
- Live audience of 200,000+.
- On-line/broadcast audience of 1,000,000+.
- 600+ employees (FTE 50+).
- Partnerships with universities.
- Partnerships with state orchestras.

I feel extremely privileged to work with this incredible group of committed, clever and passionate professionals from Music for Canberra, QYO, MYO, SYO, WAYO and AdYO. Thank you to you all for your insight and collegiality; and special thanks to Ben Burgess and WAYO for hosting the network meeting in 2023.

Increasing accessibility through Pathways

Between November 2022 and 31 May 2023, TYO needed to fundraise $25,000 through the TYO Music is for Everyone Fundraiser to secure MATCHED funding of another $25,000 from Creative Partnerships Australia's Plus1 program.

Thanks to 125 individual donors, 31 sponsors, two foundations, our amazing guest speaker Rick Brewster and a whole lot of hard work and goodwill – we did it!

A total of $59,988 was raised and the matched funding secured – which means a year of funding for TYO Musical Pathways Programs!

These programs will offer free foundational musical training on an orchestral instrument in a small group setting. They are especially for young people who love music but whose families can't manage the cost of private music lessons.

Our thanks to Creative Partnerships for the opportunity to participate in the Plus1 program; and heartfelt thanks to every single person, organisation and business that supported the Music is for Everyone fundraiser.

Very special thanks to guest speaker Rick Brewster of The Angels, who reminded us that no matter whether you hold a guitar, a cello or a concert ticket, the love of music is the thing that rings true.

Because music is for everyone.
